“ Dear Randy and family,
We were so sorry to hear of Janie's passing. Please know our thoughts and prayers are with you. When you and Pete first worked together at Huntsman you learned you were both married to teachers. I just wanted to share something you may not have known. I was a fan of Janie's before I even met her. She and I both taught the same subject in Conroe ISD many years ago. On my first day in the classroom, I was given a copy of the district literature curriculum for gifted and talented students. On the cover it listed Janie's name first as one of the creators and writers of this invaluable teaching tool. I used it as a solid base of instruction over the next twenty-four years with hundreds of students. Used district wide, it became a favorite of students and teachers alike because of the creative activities she included. What a wonderful legacy for an educator.

“Arkansas”

“Spring has come, winter has went
It was not did by accident
The birds have flew as you have saw
And Spring has come to Arkansas”

As written by my grandmother, Umma Baker - “One of my favorite poems that I learned in grade school, I don’t know where it came from”

Mom - I miss your voice and I believe you have found peace.

I love you dearly,

Ross
