“ I loved my momma more than I am able to put into words, an already miss her so much. She was always the one to tell me what I needed to hear not what I wanted to hear. She was there for me when all had abandoned me, an let me know she loved me regardless off what I had done. An came to visit me in my worst place in life. Helped me through some of my toughest times, sat with me at doctors appointment when I couldn't even hold up my own head. Worked her but off to get new what I wanted not just needed. I will miss your love, I love you momma. Until we meet again.

Mom wanted me to post on her behalf for all the girls and the rest of the family. She wanted to let you all know that you girls all remind her of when her and her siblings were growing up with the closeness you share. She loves to watch how you laugh and love each other and are always there to support not only each other but are there any time anyone needs love and support. We love you all and are with you in spirit.

“ You learn things about people when they pass. Even the people you are closest to. I have learned that I love Cricket far more than I realised. I learned that losing her is far harder than I could have imagined.

I hope she has found eternal peace.

She fought hard and without complaint against her many illnesses, silently, without self pity.. She ran to her limits, rested and did it again just so she could be doing what she wanted to do. She truly lived her life on her own terms. Her absences will be devastating to me.
