“ If I could share all my memories of Faye, it would take a book.. During my formative years, she was my second mother. I spent many days and nights in her home - and sat at her table for many meals; the Sunday dinners after church were some of my favorite. Faye embodied the "Godly woman" described in Proverbs 31. She took me to church along with her own children, and by her example, taught me the 'right' way to live. Earth's loss is Heaven's gain.
