

Nancy Sue Clark

May 30, 1951 - March 25, 2018

Nancy Sue Clark (Sue) went to be with the Lord on March 25, 2018 in Tyler, Texas after a lengthy and courageous battle with pancreatic cancer. She was born in McAllen, Texas on May 30, 1951.

Sue grew up all over the United States but graduated in 1969 from Sheridan High School in Sheridan, Arkansas. She ultimately settled in Alvin, Texas in 1972, where she raised both of her children. Sue married Cartis Talton Clark (Cris) in 2002 and briefly relocated to Denver, Colorado until returning to Rusk, Texas in 2008.

After a long career as a small business owner and accountant at Alvin Independent School District, Sue's final years were spent with Cris creating Iron Hill Farm in Rusk, Texas. Iron Hill Farm served as an oasis for their family to enjoy a quiet life away from the city. She loved to bake, garden, fish and make her famous jelly. Sue's life was characterized by a selfless devotion to her family and friends. She found joy in helping others, regardless of her own personal circumstances.

Sue is survived by her husband Cris; daughter and her husband, Dena and Johnny Bumgarner of Houston Texas; son and his wife, Chris and Jill Stewart of Plano Texas; son, Greg Clark of Denver Colorado; son and his wife, Adam and Teri Clark of Denver Colorado; son and his wife, Scott and Kristi Clark of Denver Colorado; brother and his wife, Ross and Judy Bishop of Houston; sister and her husband, Barbara and John Marshall of Gary Texas; brother and his wife, Allen and Bobbie Ann Bishop of Bedford Texas; grandson, “ Lucky to have shared some of my childhood with her and her family. Just last year I came across an encouraging card she sent me when I was a young girl. Glad I was able to share her words with Dena. This lady was loved by many. May these comments by all that she touched be of some help to the family and friends mourning the loss.

“ Sue always had a smile the size of Texas and I never heard her complain. She lived her life for her family and friends and was such a servant of God. All who have had the pleasure of knowing her have been so blessed. Thank you, God, for allowing such a precious soul to touch so many lives. And I pray that her much loved family will soon replace their tears with smiles as they carry her in their hearts.

“ The first time I met Sue was on their newly purchased land. She was doing one of, what she did best- caring for another. Dad (Joe) was mowing over there and had broken down on the tractor. She noticed and went to see about him. She called me at the farmhouse and said, “Uh, this is Sue Clark, we have your dad over here and he needs you to come help.” When I got there, she had him a glass of iced tea and in the shade. I jumped out of the truck and hurried over- she was in an Aggie T-shirt, shorts, tennis shoes and was dirty from one end to the other; so was I. We started to shake hands and looked at our hands-tried a little brush off on our shorts and grinned as we shook hands. That’s the last time we ever shook hands- we hugged after that! Mom, Dad and I fell in love with Cris and Sue. They are ‘the berries’! Fly to Jesus sweet Sue! Love and hugs.
