“ You have touched many lives, always made an impression where ever you went. You endured so much heartache in your life, I'm positive that you are the strongest woman I have ever known, and I hope that you have been welcomed with open arms and big smiles with your loved ones. Your love of food and cooking touched many (even if it was on our hips), you would give the shirt off of your back, or even your last dollar, if someone needed it, or breastfeed a hungry baby, while you were feeding your own (haha). I will miss you so much, may your memory live on. I love you.
